YORK, Oct. 20.—The judiciary of the United States must be brought before the control and made answerable to the well-thought-out judgment of the people. In the opinion of Theodore Roosevelt, who spoke tonight on "The Relation of Womanhood and Childhood before the Civic Forum," the control in Mr. Roosevelt's judgment should be exercised more carefully and in different fashion than by the people over the legislature and the executive, but the control should be there.

Judge, Mr. Roosevelt said, although by far the more part of the program which will be carried out for proper control of manhood and childhood, the first half of the program consists in placing upon state books of nation and states to remedy existing defects.

Former president spoke at length on "Curing abuses connected with child labor." He urged women to organize.

In the last 25 years, he declared, has shown that while people may be aroused to sound thinking, and their legislative executive officers try to carry out their purpose, yet the whole movement may come to naught.

Certain judges, certain counts, in some countries, political philosophy, and totally mislead their relations to the people to the public needs.

She made full to the delegates yesterday afternoon, thanking them for the honor they had conferred upon her.

The farm women passed resolutions of thanks to the Presbyterian church, the citizens of Colorado Springs, Mrs. John T. Burns, Mrs. W. F. Shuey and the local committee in charge of the reception and entertainment.

Poss Resolutions.

They also passed resolutions endorsing the educational school bill now before Congress, the need of home economics in the different agricultural schools and in the agricultural departments.

Obstacles Overcome.

Last year Mr. Roosevelt, in his court of New York once or twice thrown down what proved to be the only obstacle to the bill.

The regular luncheon of the Dry Farming Congress executive committee at the Autelis yesterday noon, partook somewhat of a farewell jubilee meeting. There was a large attendance of members, and all the foreign delegates remaining in the city were invited. There were felicitations on the success of the meeting and kindly words of farewell. However, some important matters were taken up for discussion.

Policies for cooperative work were outlined, making it more international.

It was agreed that teaching of agriculture in the public schools should be urged and that there should be actual demonstrations; that the boys and girls should be given plots of ground to cultivate in a scientific way.

The international delegates again reiterated their intention of holding Hungary for the 1912 congress.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST DIVINE

BAPTIST PREACHER HELD FOR DEATH OF GIRL

19-Year-Old Student Found Dead in Y. W. C. A. Home, Had Taken Poison

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—A narrow cell in Charles street jail tonight holds the Rev. Clarence Virgil Thompson Richeson, the young pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church, Cambridge, who was arrested today for the alleged murder of Avis Linnell of Hyannis, Mass., to whom he had been engaged.

His commitment to jail this afternoon on a charge of first degree murder brought a temporary end to the chain of evidence which detectives have been following since the death of Miss Linnell last Saturday.

Miss Linnell, who was 19 years old and a student at the Conservatory of Music, was found dead in the bathroom of the Young Women's Christian association home here. At first the police believed she had committed suicide, but later developments indicated that she had unknowingly taken cyanide of potassium, sent her by some other person in the belief that it would remedy her embarrassing physical condition.

For several days the police inquiry made little progress but information received early today that Mr. Richeson had purchased cyanide of potassium at a drug store in Newton led the officials to decide upon his arrest.

All Night Vigil.

A dozen officers headed by Superintendent Watts were forced to maintain an all night vigil outside the fashionable home in Brookline of Moses Grant Edmonds, where the clergyman had been staying during the last week. Before Richeson was taken into custody frequent calls at the doorbells, ringing and shouting failed to bring any response from those within the house, and the police who were without a warrant were unwilling to make a forcible entrance.

Mr. Edmonds is the father of Miss Violet Edmonds, for whose marriage to Mr. Richeson on October 27 cards had been issued. These invitations were recalled today. The Edmonds family, however, maintains faith in Mr. Richeson and the only announcement in connection with the withdrawal of the cards was that the marriage had been postponed.

The setting of October 27 as the date for the further hearing of Mr. Richeson devolves a coincidence in the fact that the day is the one on which he was to have been married.

Minister Unperturbed.

Even when faced by William Hahn, the Newton druggist who declared that Richeson had purchased cyanide of potassium from him a week ago Tuesday—the minister was apparently unperturbed.

Facing the clergyman, Hahn, who has known Richeson for several years, told how Richeson walked into his store Tuesday evening, October 10 and said:

"I'm a dog at home that is creating

Administration to Continue

Whether Damned or Not

Says President

NEWCASTLE, Wyo., Oct. 20.—President Taft again made it clear in a speech here tonight that it is his intention to enforce the Sherman antitrust law, no matter how much offending corporations squeal for mercy.

"The supreme court," said Mr. Taft, "has rendered two decisions one against the Standard Oil company, requiring it to be broken up and disintegrated into parts, and the other against the American Tobacco company. There are other companies that are charged in the same way, some of them are coming in voluntarily to divide themselves up and just as we are about to reach a proper and successful administration of the law, we begin to think that there are some people that object to the administration because of the fact that we are prosecuting these trusts and we are interfering with the law."

"It is a case where the administration is in the situation of being damned if it does and damned if it does not. But our understanding in the administration is that when the president lifted his hand above to do away with the situation and enforce the law, it meant something, and when there was a law upon the statute books for 20 years to suppress these conditions against interstate trade, to monopolize and to interfere with that trade and to control prices, that it was his business and the business of all under him to enforce the law, and that is what we propose to do, no matter whether we are damned or not."

"The prosecution of these great combinations that have been engaged in, to prevent competition must go on until either the law is repealed or the law is so enforced that no combinations shall exist which shall be able to prevent competition and establish a monopoly, and that is the policy which the administration has made and one it intends to carry through."

At Sheridan the president was taken for a three-mile ride to Fort McRae.

It was cold enough to make butiful robes and heavy overcoats comfortable and Mr. Taft stopped for a few minutes in post headquarters to get warm. He spoke there in the parlors under a roof to several thousand persons on peace and arbitration.

To Arrest Pitman and Wife.

James McDermott, another full-blooded Creek, who has been active in running down claws of the Pitman case, was in the city yesterday, but left immediately for the Pitman ranch in company with officers, whom Pitman and his wife will be arrested and brought back to Colorado Springs. Robert also will be released from his alleged imprisonment.

Later Fowler and his manager came to an agreement and the proposed flight to Los Angeles will not be made. Fowler said he would follow his original route northward along the Santa Fe

BRODERICK CHANGES HIS STORY ABOUT HOLSTLAW

Admits Sending for ex-Senator—
Testimony Bears Out Statement in Letter's Confession.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Despite all his previous assertions to the contrary, State Senator John Broderick of Chicago before the committee of United States senators investigating the Lorimer case today was forced to admit that he sent for former State Senator D. W. Holstlaw of Iuka, following the election of Lorimer in 1908.

Broderick's admission was secured after Attorney Healy of counsel for the committee unexpectedly produced a letter from Broderick to Holstlaw in which Broderick asked the Iuka man to meet him in Chicago at 4 p. m. August 23, 1908.

Holstlaw in a confession in the summer of 1910 said he was paid $2,500 by Broderick for Holstlaw's vote for Lorimer. Holstlaw declared that this payment was made in Chicago after Broderick had written him to come to Chicago.

Broderick not only denied that he had made such a payment but insisted until today that he had never met Holstlaw.

CAMPAIGN SPEAKING TOUR FOR LA FOLLETTE URGENT

WASHINGTON Oct 20.—Senator La Follette said today that no plans have been completed for a campaign speaking tour in November, although he still hopes to be able to make several progressive speeches before Congress meets. His statement follows:

The statement that I am to spend the month of November speaking in a number of states has been printed from time to time for several weeks. I have never authorized such an announcement. In response to invitations from many states and contrary to the wishes of immediate friends, I have been obliged to say that it is uncertain whether I shall make and fill such engagements."

CHINESE REBELS WIN VICTORY AT HANKOW

The imperial Chinese forces met with defeat Wednesday at Hankow, being driven back by the rebels. The extent of the defeat is not known, but the government forces are supposed to be entrenched seven miles north of Hankow awaiting reinforcements.

The warships that took part in the engagement with one exception retreat ed down the river. One of the rebels is reported won over to the revolutionaries.

Consular dispatches received at Pe kin from the province of Yun Nan report disaffection among the troops there who threaten to mutiny. The Chinese government admits a serious situation at Changsha, province of Yun Nan and this admission is believed to indicate that the people there have joined the revolt.

May Affect Troops.

It is feared by the legations at Pe kin that news of the repulse of the government forces at Hankow will utterly demoralize the troops now mobilizing and also that the provinces south of the Yang-tse-Kiang and some of those north of the river will secede.

Although the Pe kin government reports that War Minister Yin Tchang has about completed the mobilization of the army with which to put down the rebellion, the foreign minister alone seems to have confidence in its proposed attack against the enemy. The fear generally seems to prevail that he will rely on proclamations and negotiations with the enemy being careful to move his army.

Financial crisis is threatened at Shanghai where several native banks have suspended payments.

Luring Imperialists South.

SHANGHAI Oct 20.—As viewed here the Chinese who are not openly identified with either the loyalist or revolutionary cause appear hesitating and certain to follow the majority when they are sure of the probable outcome. Everything depends upon the result of the first few battles.

It is said that the rebels do not contemplate the destruction of bridges over the Yellow river. Their object rather is to lure the imperial troops south and then bring about an uprising in north China.

The ultimate purpose is to make one of the cities of the Han river capital of the empire. The Manchus are strong at Nanking and Hankow but other towns in the district are distinctly revolutionary, particularly Soo Chow.

HANKOW Oct 20.—During Wednesday's battle near Hankow the Red Cross for the first time in history put Chinese workers in the field. The Red Cross has not yet obtained recognition by the imperial troops and consequently many of their wounded were killed and mutilated by civilians who are in sympathy with the revolt.

Foreign nurses remained on the battlefield to take care of the wounded despite the advice of officials to leave.

Murdock to Shanghai

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. Rear Admiral Murdock, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, today cabled to the navy department that he was leaving Manila for Shanghai to nearer the scene of the Chinese disturbances. He announced he was leaving on the Rainhow and that his flagship the Saratoga would follow him.

Pekin Gets Its First News.

PEKIN, Oct. 20.—Fears which had prevailed here since yesterday were confirmed tonight by an Associated Press dispatch from Hankow, which stated that the rebels were winning.

The message, the first to reach the capital with news of the situation at Hankow since telegraphic communication with the south was interrupted at 1 o'clock Wednesday night, was sent from Hankow early yesterday morning. It was carried by a messenger on the nearest open wire and received here this evening.

Up to 6 o'clock tonight the government and the foreign legations were in the dark as to developments in the south. The officials claimed that the absence of news was due to the fact that the minister of war, General Yin Tchang, was holding the telegraph lines and not allowing any but his own messages to be transmitted.

He stated that General Yin Tchang had completed the organization of his forces and was rapidly pushing forward his troops, meanwhile contending himself with reporting military details without furnishing definite news of Wednesday's fight. It was explained that the concentration of the two imperial divisions had been completed last night at Kwangshu on the Pekin & Hankow railroad, 70 miles north of Hankow. It was understood that General Yin Chang, the commander-in-chief had reached Kwangshu.

Official assurances also were given that although the situation had been very grave recently, the outlook was now much improved and the ultimate triumph of the government was certain.

Rebels Hold Railroad.

A rumor was current that the rebels had cut the railroad behind imperial troops and captured Shaokan, 30 miles north of Hankow.

Another native report was that the rebels held the railway tunnel at Lin Yang Chou in the southern part of Ho Nan province and about 100 miles north of Hankow. Attempts to establish wireless communication between the capital and Hankow have thus far been fruitless.

Consular dispatches from Yun Nan report persistent rumors of disaffection among the imperial soldiers. Both the regular troops and the local regiments threaten to mutiny because they have not been paid, and refuse to march against the rebels in Szechuan. The viceroy is said to have withdrawn the ammunition from the troops and to have fortified his yamen.

The French consul at Yun Nan received a letter signed "war minister of the revolutionists," recommending that foreigners leave the country while yet there was time. In consequence the missionaries have been warned by consuls and are preparing to leave. A Mohammedan rebellion is reported imminent in Kan Chu, the scene of the Manchu rebellion of 1868-76.

"I for one hold that if a majority of the people after due deliberation come to champion such social and economic reform as these we champion tonight, they have the right to see them enacted into laws and become a part of our settled governmental policy, and I shall never abandon efforts to see this view triumph."

I am asking you to declare unequivocally that it is for the people themselves to say whether or not this policy shall be adopted and that no body of officials, no matter how well-meaning personally, honest or whatever they be legislators, judges or executives have any right to say that we, the people, shall not make laws to protect women and children, to protect men in hazardous industry, to protect men women and children from working under unhealthy conditions or for manifestly excessive hours, and to prevent the conditions of life in tenement houses from becoming intolerable.

Self-Restraint Necessary.

"It is, I believe, an advantage to have fixed in the court the power to state that an legislative act is unconstitutional, but only provided that the power is exercised with the greatest wisdom and self-restraint.

If the courts continue to use it with the recklessness that has too often been shown in the past, it is almost inevitable that efforts will be made to amend it.

"I believe that the only ultimate safety for our people is in self-control, not in control on the outside. I do not believe in snap judgments. I do not believe in permitting the determination of a moment to be transmitted into a permanent policy, but I do believe that the judgment of the people must be given effect. I do believe that this people must ultimately control its own destiny and cannot surrender the right of ultimate control to a judge any more than to a legislator or to any executive."

"One word in closing. What I have advocated is not revolution. It is no wild radicalism. It is the highest and wisest kind of conservatism.

IRON MINE FLOODED; TWELVE MEN DROWNED

HIBERNIA N. J., Oct. 20.—Twelve men were drawn from the mine shaft and abandoned in the water when a blast destroyed a partition between two shafts in the iron mines of the Watson Steel Company and let a great quantity of water, accumulated in a old shaft flood the gallery where the were at work. All the victims are engineers, except David Slaight, foreman of the gang, who lost his life in trying to aid his men.

The accident occurred in what was known as the new Langdon shaft where 60 men were at work. Between this shaft and the abandoned one was a partition of logs. Soon after the shaft went to work this morning the barrier weakened so that it gave way before the water in the adjoining gallery. In less than a minute the water was over the miners' heads and they were obliged to swim in the darkness toward the opening leading to a high level. The place where they were working was about 100 feet below the surface.

The blast was in a portion of the when the debris came but he rushed into the submerged shaft to assist the drowning men and was caught the with the other victims. It probably be some time before the bodies are recovered.

Call and inspect this splendid stock of high-class Winter Wearing Apparel for men and boys. The prices quoted will indeed make you thankful.

OPTICAL COMPLICATIONS

No matter how complicated your case may be we can help you. Many ills that you cannot trace the cause of arise either directly or indirectly from eye strain and may be greatly helped or permanently cured by a pair of our properly fitted glasses. Remember we not only make a perfect correction of the vision, but we accurately fit the frame which is just as important. A trial will convince you of the truth of our claim.

MAY CONSIDER POLICE CHIEF QUESTION TODAY

The proposed appointment of Deputy Sheriff S. D. Birno, as chief of police, was taken up at a special meeting of the city council to be held at 9:30 o'clock this morning, when the new police ordinance, prepared by Commissioner Himesbaugh, will be discussed.

So far Mayor Avery has not stated what action he will take concerning Commissioner Himesbaugh's recommendation that Birno be appointed. His name, with the exception of that of F. H. Springer, now acting as Commissioner Himesbaugh's assistant, is the only one that has been put up to the mayor, and public opinion is divided as to what the mayor's final answer will be.

Yesterday's meeting of the council was without interest. Bertha C. Walton was appointed permanently as telephone operator at the central fire station.

A letter from Black River Falls, Wis., asking financial assistance because of the recent flood, was referred to the Chamber of Commerce. The town, it is said, suffered a loss of $1,500,000.

HARRY R. HAHN DIES

Harry R. Hahn, aged 43, 23 West Mill street, died at his home Thursday. Mr. Hahn had been a resident of this city for many years and is survived by a wife, son and daughter. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from Modern Woodmen hall, where services will be conducted by Colorado Springs camp No. 7226. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery.

Thursday missionaries from China and Turkey, together with those under appointment, will tell of the life and work in the countries where they are settled.

A GIFT WITH A THOUGHT IN IT

What other Christmas present costs so little and means so much as a subscription to The Youth's Companion—52 weeks for $1.75? It is a gift which benefits not only the one who receives it, but every member of the same household.

With many Christmas presents the sense of novelty wears off by the week's end, but The Youth's Companion is as new and sought after after the fifty-second week of the year as the first. It is elastic in its adaptability, too, for it does not matter whether the present is for a boy or a girl, young married people, sedate couples, grandparents, whom never was one yet who did not see stored by The Youth's Companion. You cannot make a mistake if you give The Companion—and it is only $1.75 a year now. On January 1, 1912, the price will be advanced to $2.00.

The one to whom you give the subscription will receive free The Companion's Calendar for 1912. Lithographed in ten colors and gold, and you, too, as giver of this subscription, will receive a copy of the Calendar.

FORMERLY LIVED HERE

Eugene Ely, the aviator killed at Macon, Ga., Thursday afternoon, when he fell a distance of 150 feet, formerly lived in Colorado Springs. For a time he was a chauffeur for George A. Foster, 1225 Wood Avenue, and also worked for the A. W. Markshoffel garage.

Three years ago young Ely turned his attention to aviation, then largely in an experimental state, and quickly became an apt pupil in the study of aviation. From here he went to California and soon attracted attention because of his sensational flights. He was the first aviator to fly from and to the deck of a United States warship.

Thursday he had a premonition of an accident, and as he was about to ascend asked his mechanic for a notebook. In it he wrote the address of Mrs. Ely, 164 West Seventy-fourth Street, New York, and handed it back with the remark:

"If anything happens to me today, wire my wife. There's her address."

Ely was born at Williamsburg, Va., and was about 27 years old.

ADDRESSES H. S. PUPILS

President C. A. Lory of the State Agricultural school spoke to the students at the High School for half an hour yesterday morning, on the work of the college and the benefits of dry farming.

At the opening of a series of meetings of the college engineering club, Leonard E. Curtis spoke before a large audience last night upon "Reminiscences of a Great Patent Litigation." Mr. Curtis told the students of the difficulty one meets in attempting to put before the public a really original and useful patent and of the litigation which almost always follows such an attempt. His address was thoroughly enjoyed by all who heard him, and its educational features were highly appreciated.

Interesting Odds and Ends Relating to Farm Congress

The citizens generally were exceedingly generous in their efforts to make the congress a success, and the management is under obligations to a good many people for favors, some of which will never be paid for excepting in the clear consciousness of the donors in the knowledge of duty done in the way of civic patriotism. For instance, Dr. Trosback, Crump, Eiken, Peak, Floral company, Deschmann and Douglas, the florists of the city, donated all the flowers that were used in the conventions, halls, receptions, etc. The Underwood Typewriter company provided 25 typewriters and two stenographers free of charge for the use of the newspaper men. Richard Clough gave the use of his building at 14 North Nevada avenue for press headquarters. Free phones were put in by the Colorado Telephone company.

The Standard Electric company did most of the wiring, and at a price that made it nearly a donation to the management. The Colorado Springs Light, Heat and Power company, not only put in the arc lights, but furnished all the "juice." What is more, they were not satisfied with it but kept it going plentifully all night for 10 days.

E. J. Eaton owner of temple theater received pay for the use of the building, which was right, but in addition he gave the exposition company office rooms for 10 days. In fact, it would be pretty hard to find a business man who has not done something. Handsome cups were given by many real estate men who have had no particular publicity for it; and probably did not expect it.

H. M. Cottrell of the Rock Island says that he never exhibited at a place where he was so well treated. Usually there is a graft somewhere, a strike or threatened strike, if exhibitors do this or don't do that. He found nothing of the kind here, every contractor, from carpenters to tent men, all ready and anxious to be obliging. In fact the managers of the exposition feel very kindly towards the F. J. Burch company of Pueblo, that had the contractor for the tents. Between the wind Sunday and the snow of the last few days they have had a hard time but they have been anxious to do everything that would help out. It is creditable to them that the exhibition was well housed as if it had been in a big building.

It is unfortunate that the snow came Thursday and Friday because it prevented a large attendance from the nearby country towns. They had set apart these days to see the show, and the news of how big exhibit it really was had begun to circulate only after Monday and Tuesday.

FRIDAYS AND SATURDAYS

COLORADO SPRINGS GAZETTE: SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1911

In yesterday for the first time. It was noticed by nearly every exhibitor that the faces were strange and from the far-off regions. The questions they asked were intelligent and not those of the townsmen looking at the pumpkins as he would a crew of sheiks. Furthermore they wanted to hear the results and make further inquiries. Is there ever was a town that needed an agricultural education? It is Colorado Springs and it has been getting it this week in big doses.

Prof. Cottrell was riding away bunches of Spanish peanuts for seed yesterday. He tried to get the eastern Colorado farmers to plant them experimentally last spring, but the seed was not to be had. This year he thinks at least 20 carloads of seed will be planted in Colorado along the line of the Rock Island.

Oklahoma's delegation gave all of its vegetables and perishable exhibits to the Associated Charities to be distributed to the poor of the city. Professor Black says he hopes it all went to the men with the biggest families. Alberta gave its fruits and vegetables to the Salvation Army, People's mission and the School for the Deaf and Blind.

The Elbert county chamber of commerce was grateful to the band boys for turning out and leading them in parade through the city. President Reed and Secretary Cornforth called in Director Fluk and his men yesterday afternoon and gave them a box of cigars. Elbert county got more glory out of the show than any county in the state, and deserved it, because it has the country back of it. One fellow whose tongue was pretty well tied up last evening got a bit mixed in his geographical names, and was talking "Alberta county," when he meant the region on the Divide that is named after an early governor of the state. It is certain that a good many business men now know that Elizabeth is north of Eastonville.

CARPENTER ADDRESSES CURRENT EVENTS CLASS

Dunbar F. Carpenter conducted the first meeting of the season of the "Current Events" class of the Y. W. C. A. held last evening in the DeGraff building. His talk was interesting and largely of a historical nature. He also outlined the work to be undertaken after an early governor of the state. It is certain that a good many business men now know that Elizabeth is north of Eastonville.

OLD CITY HALL SOLD

The old city hall at the corner of Colorado avenue and Ninth street was sold by Mayor P. J. Hanible to A. C. Clothier of Crawford county, Kan., the consideration being $1,200. The sale of this building was authorized by a vote of the people under the administration of Mayor Foote. It will be remodeled upstairs for a rooming house and extended to the alley in the rear. A garage and blacksmith shop will occupy a part of the lower floor. The mayor holds Clothier's certified check, and the deed will be made out as soon as the city council ratifies the sale.

SATURDAY OCTOBER 21, 1911.

THE END OF THE CONGRESS

OTHER conventions have drawn larger crowds to Colorado Springs, but none has been held here which gave assurance of more lasting benefits to the City. No careful observer can deny that the convention was a success. All of the foreign delegates whose presence had been promised months ago were here, including some who came from far-off India and South America. This fact alone shows the importance which the governments that sent them attach to the subject of dry farming.

The exhibits were complete and highly instructive and the exhibition tents were crowded almost every hour from the opening of the Congress to its close. Authoritative addresses were delivered at the sessions of the Congress in the Temple Theater and listened to with interest. It is true that there was a conspicuous lack of spectators attracted merely by curiosity, but there was no lack of interest on the part of the practical men who had come here to take part in the proceedings, especially the farmers of Colorado and other states.

It is not a mere play upon words to say that the Dry Farming Congress has sown the seed which will yield abundant harvests in Colorado in the years to come. Even a year ago this subject was almost unknown. All of us had heard the term "dry farming," but to most of us it was a meaningless combination of words. People assumed that it was a name invented for the benefit of crooked land agents to help them line their pockets by convincing deluded farmers that abundant crops could be grown in a desert by some trick of legerdemain yet to be explained.

If the Dry Farming Congress had done nothing more than eradicate this impression by teaching the people of Colorado the true scientific nature of dry farming it would be well worth its cost in money and labor. But it has done vastly more. It has opened the door of opportunity, not only to the people living on the dry lands but to investors who will make profits in the legitimate exploitation of these lands, and to the entire state which will benefit by the increase in values and populations which will follow the development of a greater agricultural industry in Eastern Colorado.

REMARRIAGE OF DIVORCED PERSONS

A MAN who had been divorced in Illinois and forbidden by the court to remarry within a certain period, went to Wisconsin and wedded his affiancé returning to Illinois the same day. Now an appellate court of Illinois has held that the ceremony is illegal and that the man is guilty of bigamy and contempt of court. His attorneys invoked the clause of the Constitution which requires that each state must give full faith and credit to the laws of other states, and contended that a man must be held to be legally married if he obeys the laws of the state wherein the ceremony is performed, regardless of any restrictions imposed upon him in a divorce proceeding. But the appellate court declared that the clause in question has no bearing on this matter.

The case of Colonel John Jacob Astor is still fresh in the public mind. Astor was forbidden by the New York court which granted his wife's divorce to remarry within her lifetime. The first wife is still living, but a few weeks ago Astor was married in Rhode Island, after experiencing a good deal of difficulty in finding a minister to perform the ceremony. He has since returned to New York City, which is his legal residence, and it is said that the judge who granted the divorce has expressed an opinion that Astor may at least be guilty of contempt of court. In view of the Illinois decision here cited the outcome of proceedings against Astor would be watched with great interest, and the definite fixing of his status as a bigamist would have a wonderfully wholesome influence.

The present mixup over conflicting divorce laws and the remarriage of divorced persons is nothing less than a national disgrace. No hard and fast rule can be made governing remarriage in such cases; it depends on the circumstances in individual instances. But there is no valid reason for the lack of a uniform divorce law which would be binding in all states. At present there is almost no uniformity. One state, South Carolina, has no divorce law at all, but in the other states the circumstances under which the marriage tie may be dissolved change at every boundary line, until when Nevada is reached marital woes can be legally ended after a residence of only six months in the state and for a variety of trivial causes including various shades of cruelty.

The report on marriage and divorce compiled a year ago by the Census Bureau declares that at the present rate of increase the proportion of divorces to marriages in the United States will soon be one to twelve. With the exception of Japan the divorce rate is greater in this country than in any other, and is three times greater than it was forty years ago. Three out of every four applications for divorce are granted, and only fifteen per cent of the cases in the courts are contested.

No exhaustive investigation of this question is needed to show that there is something radically wrong. But the discovery and application of an adequate remedy is quite another matter.

WHAT TO DO WITH TURKEY

From the New York Mail:

Plow it, and plant potatoes, corn, and wheat. It is the garden of the earth. That stretch of acres, lying under a brilliant sun, yet where drought never blights, is better than Northumberland, in England. New Hampshire, in America, never saw such a day as all days are along the blue Aegean, and to the mountains about Jerusalem.

But 200 years ago it was said, "Where the hoofs of Mohammed's horses strike, the grass never grows." Now drive on Mohammed's Europe needs bread. Its crowded pipe cannot rest in America, send them meat. Open a school house on every hilltop. May the country with trophies, publish newspapers.

Let us, in that fair part of the world, open the Hebrew and Christian Bible in place of the Koran. Tell you ever read the Koran? It tells the whole story of the centuries of a curse over so noble a portion of the globe. The Turk never laughs. He never plays ball. His pleasures are the harem, Mohammed taught him thus. He revels in cruelty and slaughter. It is high time to send him to public school.

Religion, to be sure, cannot be taught with the sword. We have outgrown the notion of a crusade for religion's sake. But a group of Christian nations can at least pocket their heathen jealousies and permit the rational use of the waste areas of tillable land now blighted by Turkish scourge. They can do this by ceasing to "support" the farts of
